5

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus for handling network calls that require the support of an intelligent network. From a query by the switching center, an intelligent network is being determined based on which basis network the received call is being initiated from. The network calls' handling is then supported by the determined intelligent network.